Postal Markings Illustrated could not have happened without the work of Arnold Creaser who supplied the draft information and most of the illustrations. A number of illustrations were also provided by Ross Duberal, often at my urgent request. Many other people, too numerous to mention individually, contributed in one way or another.

Collectors of the postmarks of Western Australia owe you all a collective debt of gratitude to which I add my personal appreciation for assistance willingly given.

Had the magnitude of the task been realised before we started it is quite likely that PMI would not have got going! At least five computers have been involved, not to mention modems, printers and reams of paper. The actual printing has been undertaken at four different establishments. Whilst the end result is not as consistent as I would have liked, I am sure that it will turn out to have been worthwhile. Good luck with your collecting and may PMI give you much enjoyment.
